The Experience

Valpolicella is one of the most complex and storied wine territories in Italy. Home to Amarone, Ripasso and Recioto, it is a region where wine-making is not a trend — it is a centuries-old way of life.

This seven-day tour is designed for those who want more than a winery visit. Over the course of a week, your group will move through the hills above Verona, meet the producers who shape these wines, cook with local chefs, dine at historic tables and explore one of Italy's most beautiful cities — guided throughout by a single expert who knows every detail by heart.

Every stop, every glass, every meal has been chosen with care. Nothing is left to chance.

What Makes This Tour Different

Real access

Your group visits family estates and producers who are not on the standard tourist circuit – because of relationships built over years, not bookings made online.

Expert guiding throughout

Giulia Ledda is your guide from day one to day seven. Wine-educated, English-fluent and deeply connected to the territory, she turns every visit into a story.

Food as seriously as wine

From a cooking class in a working winery to a gala dinner at a historic Veronese estate, the food programme is as curated as the wine list.

Every detail managed

Transfers, hotels, dietary requirements, timing – all coordinated in advance and on the day. Travel agencies receive a single, reliable point of contact.
